1936 POLITICAL CAMPAIGN OPENS

J. B. WHITE

The quality and fiber of a man are tested both by bad fortune and good. Under the stress of mishap, disappointment and privation, his courage is sounded, his determination is sharpened and he may learn the hopeful habit and the measure of his own powers. In times of favoring fortune he must meet new enemies, less obvious but more dangerous to his spiritual growth and integrity.

Good fortune tempts to conceit and arrogance, though level thinking can reveal how much the favors of circumstance and accident befriend us. Good fortune brings the illusion that we are necessarily right because we are successful, which false assurance may blind us to many hazards that may shipwreck our too confident course. Good fortune may steal from us the things we love and send us seeking after the things we desire, which may prove dead-sea fruit and void of happiness. Good fortune may draw us away from friends who ask no favors and give us only the company of those whose favors bring no friendship.

Good fortune is no more than a tool to our hands, which may serve to make effective our hopes and purposes. It may serve us also to dig deeper into our perpetual personal problem, which is that of refashioning ourselves to the better pattern of our choice. Such fortune frees us from forces that mold and discipline us from without, but leaves us more intimately responsible to conscience and conviction for what we make of ourselves within. For if fortune is no more than an anesthetic to character, it brings us more ill than good.

Getting thin or getting fat. How those two bugaboos do hang over the American people! Verily no blue law could cause more discomfort.

Mary adores chocolates, but she'll tell you mournfully that she can't eat them because she's getting too fat.

Dad doesn't really mind his big paunch, but so darned many people say, "You aren't so slim as you used to be, are you Jim?" that in desperation he takes to gym, suffers the tortures of using long unused muscles, and lives on a slice of toast and water just to put the silencer on that "getting fat" speech.

And how the fat ones do envy the thin ones who the doctor orders to drink lots of milk, eat beefsteak and all the candy they want.

But suppose you are a thin one and hate milk? Still you suffer the nauseating stuff just so you won't have to hear people say "My goodness, girl, you're nothing but a wraith."

Somewhat or other, one can't help thinking that old Gibbon, who wrote "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" is to be envied for his courage. The doctor told him, so for the story goes, that he'd die if he kept on getting fatter. He required a specially built chair big enough for two ordinary folk. But he said he'd be darned if he'd give up eating the way he wanted to, and so he died, glorying in his fatness.

There is one commodity obtainable in the United States at less than the cost of production. It is higher education, the actual cost of which is about three times what the student pays for it.

There are 1,071 colleges and universities, having a total operating cost of over half a billion dollars a year. Of that vast sum only 25 per cent comes from tuition fees and 10 per cent students' payment for board and lodging.

Taxpayers, through government appropriations to institutions of higher learning bear 26 per cent of the educational burden and the remaining 25 per cent comes from private contributions and endowment funds.

This explains why more than a million young men and women can go to colleges. To ask from the students the full cost of his education would close many colleges and universities and greatly reduce the enrollments of all. Thousands cannot even pay the

Bonus Sum Here Totals $567,000

Milam county war veterans will receive $560,307 if the Congress pays the soldier's bonus.

Texas' share in the gigantic two million dollar tribute to the valor of American arms in the late world war will be $83,500,000 according to an estimate released in the Sunday press.

While the figures released from Dallas are estimates it is said that the amounts will be substantially correct.

Payment of the bonus in cash or convertible bonds was regarded as certain among former service men, who have been waiting patiently for the congress to recognize the nation's heroes in the wave of liberal spending that has characterized the new deal.

Local veterans were hopeful that some disposition would be made of the matter at once. The house has already passed the bill calling for cash payment. The senate in Washington favors the bond plan, it is indicated.

CRAIN ESCAPES BUT RECAPTURED SUNDAY

Jack Crain, prisoner in the Milam county jail, escaped his cell around 4 a. m. Saturday, sawing his way to a short liberty. He was captured Sunday afternoon as he lay asleep by the rails of the International and Great Northern railroad near Rockdale.

Constable Will Colvin who exchanged shots with Crain in a recent gun duel in the Rockdale cemetery, arrested the prisoner and brought him back to jail.

Earl Ray, another prisoner who escaped with Crain is still at large. He hails from Oklahoma.

Sheriff Kennedy discovered early Saturday the men had effected their liberty with saws. After they left their cells they went to the top of the jail, broke through an old repair in the roof and escaped down a vent pipe.

Crain told the sheriff that after the two had broken from the jail they went to the pump house on the river and plunged into the icy waters of Little River, swimming to the east bank of the stream and disappearing in the night.

Both men were being held pending action of the grand jury. Ray is (Turn to page 12)

CITY ELECTION AT OLD BANK BUILDING

Chairman Roy Baskin of the local Democratic executive committee has designated the old Cameron State Bank building as the polling place for the coming city primary election to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 4th.

The primary will nominate party officers for the city of Cameron, including a candidate for Mayor, two aldermen, city marshal, city attorney and assessor and collector.

In the published call for the election last week the place for holding the election was omitted. No polling will be provided in the old school building as has been customary since another voting precinct was given the city by the Commissioners Court.

So far very little interest has been shown in the election.

During his stay his name was read over the Brinkley broadcasting station from Del Rio and was heard by friends in Milam county.

He will go to Little Rock, Ark., in a short time to take treatment, he said.

His decision to run for this office which he held for a number of years will be received with acclaim by hundreds of friends in Commissioner Precinct No. 3 of which Rockdale is the largest voting precinct.

Mr. Hairston served as county commissioner for a number of years. He was defeated for the nomination in 1934 by a small margin. He served the county in one of the outstanding periods of its growth and the ability he brought to the details of his office makes his record one of the best in Milam county history. During these terms Mr. Smith has given his best efforts to police the town and his friends point out that law violations have been at a minimum with few burglaries and general crime almost extinct.

He promises the people, if re-elected for a second term to continue his good work in their behalf, affording protection to all alike and responding unafraid to every call of duty.

Smith, a picturesque character, first saw sunlight on Texas soil in historic Gonzales. The era was the borderland between the days of reconstruction and the present time and his life has spanned an interesting period in Texas history. He became a cow hand and as a youth knew many of the rugged characters of the trail, not infrequently having (Turn to page 12)

He has solved many baffling crimes and it was said of him that he always got his man. In this regard he enjoyed a distinction in Milam county and Texas even as the Royal Northwest Mounted.

Parity Checks Now Available

Parity checks, totalling $107,427.84 for Milam County farmers now in the office of the County Farm Agent, George Banzhaf, will be delivered, it was stated by Mr. Banzhaf, Wednesday morning. Authority to deliver these checks were received by wire here Tuesday night from district agent M. T. Payne at College Station.

Very little comment was made by County Farm Agent, George Banzhaf and county committeeman Geo. T. Graves, on Wednesday morning in Milam county of the Supreme court's decision invalidating the AAA in its entirety, but each believed that the government will meet its obligations to the farmers.

Six young men and women who have been employed here with the county farm agent's office in the cotton program were without employment when the decision in reference to the AAA was made. These employees volunteered their services in delivering the parity checks in the office of the farm agent.

The total benefit payments to be received by Milam County farmers in 1935 was $815,000.

TO TAKE MYSTERY OUT OF BANKING

By ROBERT V. FLEMING,

President American Bankers Association

The American Bankers Association has cooperated wherever it could properly do so in every measure for national recovery. It has offered constructive recommendations for such changes in banking laws as we recognized were necessary, and we now have a better law under which to operate. The Banking Act of 1935 affords us opportunities for broader service and, at the same time, retains the fundamentals which we believe are so vital to our national welfare and which have played a large part in bringing our country, in a comparatively short space of time, to the position of the greatest industrial nation on the earth.

R. V. FLEMING

The Public and Banking

It is necessary that the public have a thorough understanding of the functions of banks, what they can do and what they cannot do, for it must be recognized that to many people the business of banking is still somewhat of a mystery.

We should frankly explain these functions to the public, acquaint them with the laws under which we operate and emphasize the vital part which banks play in the economic life of the Nation. Therefore, in order that there may be the fullest cooperation and understanding between the banks and the people of the country, it will also be one of our objectives to take the mystery out of banking wherever it exists in the public mind.

Banking Conferences

A series of Regional Conferences on Banking Service will be held in strategic sections of the country, embracing all types of banking. The new banking laws and the regulations issued thereunder will be carefully analyzed so that our bankers will have a thorough understanding of the broadened services now made possible.

The question of public relations and how we can best serve the people of our communities will be another topic of discussion. Clinics or forums on specific questions of interest to bankers and the problems confronting them in their particular localities will also be included in these conferences.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE HELPS THE BANKS

Annual Bankers Convention Says People Have Had Confidence Restored—Recommend Change Government Policy

The restoration of public confidence in banking has put it in the position where it can function fully and vigorously in playing its full economic part in the progress of recovery, said the American Bankers Association in its annual convention resolutions.

"The passage of a generally constructive banking law in the Banking Act of 1935 has stabilized the banking situation and enabled bankers to devote undivided attention to the normal administration of their institutions in promoting the business and public welfare of their communities," the resolutions said.

"We feel that it is a particularly important feature of this law that it aims to create through the revision of the Federal Reserve Board a Supreme Court of Finance which, with the non-political appointment of exceptionally competent men, should constitute one of the greatest forward steps in building a sound banking and credit system for this country."

The Government in Banking

Another resolution said: "We particularly emphasize the desirability of the retirement of government from those fields of extending credits of various types which can be adequately served by privately owned institutions. We recognize that the exigencies of the now passing depression made necessary a large participation by government for a time in the task of meeting the public's emergency financial needs.

"Those conditions have been largely remedied and the obligation now rests upon the banks and other financial agencies to demonstrate to the people of this country that they are fully able and willing to meet all demands upon them for sound credit cooperation. It is our duty as bankers to facilitate in every effective way the retirement of government agencies from credit activities by promoting public understanding of the proper function of privately owned banking."

ACCURATE RECORDS

The keeping of accurate records constitutes an essential part of any successful business management, whether manufacturing, merchandising or farming. It is quite generally conceded that any good business concern keeps adequate records, and this procedure is equally important in the business of farming, declares the Bulletin of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission.

Death To The AAA

The summary execution of the Agricultural Adjustment Act by the majority opinion of the United States Supreme Court is not remarkable when one considers the antecedent lives of the justices, and the effect of their decision cannot be estimated until it is seen whether new legislation, within the Constitution can bring about what the AAA aimed at.

The Herald is not inclined to blame a court for the opinion of its judges, regardless of what that may be. Every American knows that the government is divided into three divisions and that it is given to the Supreme Court to pass judgment upon every statute. If the judgments rendered do not conform to popular opinion the remedy lies in amending the Constitution or awaiting the inevitable alteration of the judicial personnel.

The chief concern of this newspaper is in the effect that the sweeping judicial pronouncement will have upon the welfare of the farmers of the United States. We have asserted time and again that American agriculture has been mistreated in this country since 1921 until the recent past. The fact that our farmers have been bled white for years is well established. The enactment of the AAA was an effort to readjust an economic situation that was unjust and intolerable. Whether it was the best effort is an academic question but whether the decision of the Supreme Court has rendered impossible further effort is the vital issue now.

Farmers of the United States should impress upon every political candidate their demand for full economic parity, for an income in proportion to that of other classes, for the right to use the powers of government to protect them as well as industry and to give them the advantages that flow to industry through production and price control.

We are not demanding any particular plan or program. Any one scheme that works, putting dollars in farm purses, will suit us. The national welfare requires that farm purchasing power be sustained at a ratio higher than that yet attained. Farmers, who vote right, can have much to do with restoring to themselves all that have been denied for many years.

Financial Advice for 1936

It is not particularly our business, but inasmuch as an editor is supposed to offer gratuitous suggestions along many lines, we decide to urge our readers to start saving some money in 1936.

There are many men in Cameron today, who are old and nearly broke because they always intended to begin saving "next year." They always figured that their prospects were so bright that "in a year or two" they could put it in the bank in hunks!

The main lesson for young couples to learn, since it is too late for the older ones to profit by advice, is to live below each year's income. The family that lives below its means is the family that will have something in the future. It is the well-off family, regardless of what its income may be.

There are people in Cameron who are hard up on $1,200 a year. They would be just as hard up on $2,400 or $4,000 a year. They have the habit of buying whatever they anticipate they can pay for. That is not the way to get ahead.

If you would take the advice of the writer, make it a rule, from now on, to buy almost everything for cash. Do not buy anything on credit that does not pay for itself, or that you can do without until you have the money to buy it outright.

Harmful 'Charity'

Kind-hearted citizens, in Cameron and elsewhere, often take unctious to their souls in the thought that they cheerfully contribute their bits to the relief to any one who comes to them with a tale of woe, or seeks succor for distress.

It would surprise some of these people very much to learn that they are probably making a mistake. More often, they are encouraging a habit of begging, which will make of the recipient a panhandler all his life.

The aim of modern relief is to correct the condition which causes a man, or a woman, or a family, to be on the seamy side of want. Very often these circumstances can be so altered as to make the individual or family self-supporting, and enable them to take their place in society as worthy members, earning what they receive.

This is much better than scattering alms wholesale and without wise discrimination. While we would not go so far as to say that all charity should be controlled by social workers, we do assert that most of it should be so expended.

Optimism for 1936

Nationwide signs indicate that recovery is well on the way and "we now have a broader and firmer foundation than in preceding years on which to build in 1936," says Secretary of Commerce Roper.

Among the favorable signs listed by the Secretary were the following:

A ten per cent increase in factory employment.
A twenty-five per cent increase in factory payrolls.
Maintenance of the 1934 level of factory wages.
A twenty-five per cent increase in production of durable goods.
A twenty per cent increase in sales of general merchandise in rural areas.
An increase of forty per cent in dollar expenditures for new passenger automobiles.
A five per cent increase in urban sales of general merchandise.
A continued growth in the dollar value of American foreign trade.
American exports highest since 1931.

A decline in railroad deficits.
A rising tendency in security market.
Further improvement in agriculture.

On Going To Church

We have been asked by a reader to write an editorial on the reasons for going to church.

Naturally, most of us are religious and tend to become members of some organized religious group. We should be affiliated with the religious organization that expresses our own religious ideals if possible. We should identify ourselves with the church that seems to us to be the best for the development and strengthening of our faith.

There are, in Milam County as everywhere else, scoffers who sit on the sidelines and relate the defects of individual members of the churches. They find excuse for their own absence from organized religion in the lack of perfection that is commonly exhibited by the members of any church. They do not belong to a church, they say, because they are not good enough, or because they are not hypocrites, like certain individuals they mention.

These reasons, it seems to us, are not so weighty. They are usually the expressions of those who have, in their own minds, a conviction that being in a church will interfere with the lives that they lead. It would seem to us that any individual could find a church group from which to draw inspiration for a better life if that is desired. We doubt if the same source of strength can be found on street corners and loafing stands anywhere.

Members of churches are not perfect. In fact, many of them are bitterly aware of imperfections. They seek—the majority of them—to live better lives and look to religion to supply strength as well as inspiration. Millions of men and women testify that this is the truth, so far as they are concerned, whether it is so with others or not.

Organized religion has done much to improve human existence. It has gradually broadened the horizon of men and women, developed the spirit of human brotherhood and generated in many hearts an abiding love for humanity. True enough these same results have been accomplished often enough, outside of organized religion but such instances are the exception and not the rule. With all allowance for criticism an individual, in most American communities, will be running with the best people of his race when he attaches himself to some church and becomes an organized supporter of religion as a great factor in human life.

As 1936 Begins

The Herald begins the years 1936 with certain improvements in mind, but with the recognition that these depend as much upon our public as upon ourselves.

The editor and publisher of this newspaper constantly have in mind its possible betterment. The field of service is large and we try to fill it as best we can.

We doubt if there are any other businesses which undertake so much work for the benefit of the public as the newspapers of the country. Of course, it is to their interest to do so, but very often, in certain cases, it means a loss of revenue and certain punishment for a newspaper to act in the public interest. Only in long run, when one contemplates the admiration and respect which an honest newspaper acquires, is the statement that "it pays" applicable to newspaper service.

With this in mind, we do not hesitate to request the support of all those who consider the Herald as worthy of public recognition. To them, we pledge again, what we have often pledged, our best work in the interest of the greater growth of Cameron and the betterment of every condition that is for the benefit of its citizens.

WOULD PROTECT BANKING FIELD IN RURAL AREAS

American Bankers Association
Announces Purpose to Combat Return of Excessive Number of Banks

CITES LAX CHARTER POLICIES IN THE PAST

Finds a Chief Cause of Bank Failures Was Too Many Banks—Existing Sound Banks Serving Communities Well

NEW YORK. — Existing sound banks, especially the small banks in the rural districts which are serving their communities well, should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused by former lax chartering policies, which were mainly to blame for the unfavorable failure record of the past, says the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. This is brought out in a report covering an investigation by the commission of bank failures and public policies in chartering banks.

"The Commission's study gives an impressive revelation of how great a part mistaken public policies in the chartering of banks played in creating the unsound banking structure which finally collapsed with the Bank Holiday in March 1933," Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, says in a foreword.

"Over-production of banks, literally by thousands, over many years in the face of insistent warnings not only from bankers and others who recognized the danger, but even more so from the mounting records of bank failures themselves, is clearly shown to have constituted as a whole one of the greatest single economic errors in the history of the Nation."

A Recurrence Feared

He refers to fears of a recurrence of over-banking recently expressed by Federal banking authorities, to the powers given the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation by the provision of the Banking Act of 1935 over the admission of banks to membership in the insurance fund, to strengthened state laws and to the policies now being followed by both national and state supervisory authorities aimed to safeguard the nation against over-banking.

"But sound laws and conscientious officials are not of themselves always sufficient safeguard in any field of our complex national life unless they have the active support of public opinion," he adds. "It is the purpose of the American Bankers Association to aid in marshaling public opinion in support of both national and state supervisory authorities in their efforts to strengthen and protect the banking structure."

The Economic Policy Commission summarizes its findings in part as follows:

"The facts show a distinct causal relationship between the over-chartering of banks and the abnormal bank failure conditions that prevailed from 1929 to the bank holiday in 1933. It is desirable that studies be made on the basis of experience to develop standards governing the number of banks or the volume of bank capital which can be successfully operated."

"Such a study would embrace the question whether banking facilities can best be supplied to the rural districts by small unit banks or by branches from banks of substantial capital in larger centers. Existing sound banks, which are serving their communities well should be protected from any return of the over-banked local conditions caused in the past by lax chartering policies."

Banking Officials Queried

"An inquiry among state bank commissioners shows a preponderant opinion against increasing materially the number of banks, coupled with the fact that present laws give them sufficient discretion to prevent a repetition of the grave errors of the past."

"Under prevailing abnormal conditions, with the Federal Government extensively exercising loaning powers in competition with the banks, and with industry itself so largely supplied with funds as to render it to a great degree independent of normal bank borrowing the banking structure even with its present reduced numbers, finds it difficult to support its existing capital in investment and operating personnel."

"These are new factors, intensifying the need for highly prudent and restrictive chartering policies. We urge the retirement of the Federal Government from the banking business as rapidly as the return of normal business conditions warrant."

Conference on Banking

NEW YORK. — An eastern states conference on banking service will be held by the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia January 23 and 24 as a part of the organization's nationwide program on banking development, it has been announced.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the association, will preside over the meetings. It is stated that this conference will be the first of several to be held in various parts of the country presenting a program the details of which are now in the course of preparation.

The general topic of the conference will embrace the managerial, legislative and operative problems confronted by all classes of banks. An outstanding phase of the meetings will be the development of plans for promoting a general better public understanding in regard to bank functions and policies.

MAYSFIELD FARMERS TO LEARN SECRET OF BETTER DAIRY COW

The agricultural evening school for farmers that is being held at the Maysfield high school opened again after the holidays on Wednesday night, Jan. 8, with E. D. Parnell, Cameron Vocational teacher, in charge. The meeting was used in a discussion of turkey and poultry diseases and parasites, this being one of the problems of much importance to farmers of the county. Blackhead is the most serious disease affecting turkeys, the group agreed, and no cure has been found for it, once it has become established in the flock. Sanitation with the flock can hold it very low, however, it was stated and a plan of raising turkeys under blackhead conditions was outlined at the meeting. Intestinal worms and coccidiosis are other very serious diseases of turkeys and methods of control were given for each. A number of other common diseases were also discussed by the members present.

The school for farmers opened in November and will continue for several months. Weekly night meetings are now being held on Wednesdays.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take only liquid laxatives

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true. Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. They use a liquid laxative, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

A cleansing dose today, a smaller quantity tomorrow, less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

and most of the series of meetings are being given over to problems of dairy cattle feeding and management. How to select a good dairy cow and heifer will be the subject for discussion next week. Additional dairy cattle problems will be taken up in the following weeks. All farmers are invited to attend these meetings, Mr. Parnell, says and no charge is made for attending the school.

Hearst Pays Tribute To The Catholics of Nation

William Randolph Hearst, publisher, recently paid a tribute to the Catholic church for its opposition to Communism. Many Catholic readers of the Herald will be interested in the following which was published in Southern Messenger and called to the attention of The Herald by Pat Driscoll of Burlington.

"It is an inspiring position, reminiscent of the church's mightiest and most vigorous eras.

It is another crusade arousing the people against the enemies of religion and of the social organization.

It is in line with the splendid recent stand of the church against immorality on the screen, an initiative which other churches followed, and which almost immediately purified the movies and made them fit to appeal to the decent majority of the public.

The church's stand against the evil of Communism is even greater than its cinema stand, and more deep reaching by far.

It is a stand against not only immorality but ungodliness.

It is a stand against political anarchy, against intencine war, against the fury of class hatred, against the violent destruction of all established peace and order.

It is a stand against domination of government by the most ignorant and most incapable and most corrupt elements of the community.

It is a stand against the exploitation of the whole people by the most covetous and most callous and most cruel and most vicious and vindictive classes of the social organization.

It is a stand against crime, against the whole sale murder and plunder which have prevailed in communistic countries, and which follows the overthrow of the social order, the removal of all restraint upon the lowest elements, and the eventual establishment of brutal and bloody class tyranny.

It is a stand for freedom, for individual liberty, for universal opportunity, for law-and equality before the law.

It is a stand for peace and order, for family rights, for property rights for human rights.

It is a stand in behalf of a government for all the people, by all the people, for all the people, a stand in support of true American ideals and institutions.

It is a stand which every American church must take, and which no church can fail to take and remain a truly American church.

I am not a Catholic. I am an Episcopalian, but I honor the magnificent courage, the inspiring crusading spirit, the high sense of obligation to God and mankind with which the Catholic has met this sinister communistic menace.

I hope that my church and other American churches will join hands with the Catholic church, and present an unbroken moral front to resist the attack of the modern infidel host against law and liberty, peace and order, religion and civilization".

Mrs. Sam Deer and son George, are visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clyde Greeless in Bruni.

Women from the 'teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have recently taken Cardui during the change of life. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

MOTHER! don't experiment with your Child's Cold

VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

JOHN W. EANES IS BURIED AT CHRISMAN

Many friends in Cameron sympathize with Vernon Eanes and sister, Mrs. George Richards of Cameron in the death of their father, John W. Eanes, 85 which occurred suddenly at his home, January 2nd in Chrisman.

Mr. Eanes had been in his usual fine health; ate a hearty supper that evening and retired that night. Next morning about three o'clock he awakened a son sleeping in next room and told him that he felt sick. Before the son could leave the home, he died.

Mr. Eanes was born at La Grange, Texas, and later moved to Chrisman where he engaged in farming and ginning, and made a success of his work. He was active in all affairs taking much interest in politics, civic and all religious activities. From early boyhood had been a member of the Christian church, and had lived a splendid christian life, and had made many friends.

A short service was held at the home, concluded at the church by Rev. A. S. Broadas of Caldwell, Friday afternoon, with interment in the cemetery at Chrisman.

Surviving him are his wife, seven children, Vernon Eanes and Mrs. George Richards, of Cameron; Morris Eanes, Mrs. W. D. Boyd, Mrs. Earl Ewell, Miss Ruth Eanes and John Everett Eanes of Chrisman; twelve grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Many beautiful floral offerings were sent in by friends and loved ones.

We wish to express our deep appreciation of the acts of kindness, words of encouragement and beautiful floral offerings of our friends during the illness and death of our beloved mother.

TO WED SOON

Tiny bags of rice in pink cellophane tied with silver ribbon and used as plate favors at a party Tuesday night at the Hebner home, bore the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Frances Hebner to August (Buddy) Senkel.

"Frances and Buddy, January 21 8:30 a. m." was the inscription on tiny scrolls inserted in the rice bags. Mrs. Ed. Boudreaux of Houston and Miss Bettye Mae Thompson of this city were hostesses to the party honoring Miss Frances Hebner.

As the guests assembled, they registered in the bride's book, which was in colors of pink and silver. Pink cyclamens, with the pots tied with silver paper and placed in the living room, carried out further the color scheme.

Games were conducted by Miss Bettye Mae Thompson. Miss Mary Ellen Manning, dressed as man, sang and played "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby". A toast to the bride was given by Miss Berenice McLerran.

The many gifts were placed on the dining table, directly under the chandelier from which hung silver miniature wedding bells. The gifts were unwrapped and Miss Hebner thanked each of the guests in her pleasant manner.

Refreshments of sandwiches, olives potato chips and hot chocolate were served to fifty guests.

Two Hundred Year Old Scenes Feature Film "A Tale of Two Cities" Here January 19 and 20

Out of the mists of two hundred years, secrets of the most famous criminal courtroom in the world were revealed recently to research workers at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios in Hollywood.

The courtroom is "Old Bailey," famed in English song and story for eight centuries.

Trials had been held there for two hundred years when Columbus discovered America. It was incredibly old when the American Colonies declared their independence from the British crown. Its full records are lost in antiquity, yet many of its secrets came to light during the many months of intensive research in preparation for filming "A Tale of Two Cities," the Dickens classic which will be shown at the Cameron Theatre with Ronald Colman as its star. Sunday and Monday, January 19 and 20.

Activities of the studio's research department directed by Mrs. Nathalie Bucknall are at once interesting in their revelations, and revealing in the thoroughness with which the studios surround important historical pictures.

"Old Bailey" was recreated at the studios as it was in about 1780—authentic down to the carving of the benches, the stains on the floors and the cracks in the musty walls. Even the spider webs in the high corners, revealed in sketches by artists of the period, were re-woven by the magic of the studio's expert craftsmen.

In this setting occurred some of the most poignant dramas of the great Dickensian story-drama which involved Colman, Edna May Oliver, Elizabeth Allan, Donald Woods, Reginald Owen, Wallace Catlett, Henry B. Walthall, Claude Gillingwater, E. E. Clive and others of the 112 distinguished stars and featured players of the cast.

The setting proved a mecca for Los Angeles jurists, several of whom visited the studio to watch the workings of British jurisprudence as practiced in the late eighteenth century.

Even about this reproduction, peopled with Hollywood players in the quaint costumes of that far-gone day, there lingered some of the atmosphere of the "Old Bailey" of London's long-ago.

There was a courtroom on the site as early as 1190, adjoining the old jail at Newgate, which itself was of Roman origin. Originally it was a gate to the City of London; jails were ordinarily built in the city gates, and court sessions were held in or adjoining the jails. There are a number of these jail-courts in London, but in antiquity and varied interest, "Old Bailey" is supreme. The first prison was old as the Tower of London, and much older than the Bastille. Hundreds of thousands of prisoners have lived within it and in the early centuries it was a ghastly inferno.

Texas Centennial Hall of State

many which the Lord thy God giveth thee". How many children or grown up men and women really honor their parents? I would say that the percentage would be very low. This should not be the case but it reality it is.

Third, is your home blest with a 'babe' or a number of little 'tots,' if so, you have the purest and sweetest things on earth, which you should be proud of. Nothing is more to a mother, than her babe. I say nothing should be.

Fourth, we take the financial independence of people. If you are really financially independent you have one real thing in which to be proud of. If you are not you still can be thankful of your means of finance.

Fifth and last, I wish to say that each and everyone has a friend or a number of friends and a sociable atmosphere to live in, which we should be very thankful for. The saying, "A Friend in Need is a Friend Indeed." No truer words has ever been spoken and we all seem to have friends when we really need one. Than at last life is worth living because we really can enjoy what nature has in store for us.

Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore Are Cast In Memorable Film Coming January 26 and 27

"Ah Wilderness!" Eugene O'Neill's great stage drama, brought to the screen in elaborate form by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is the current attraction at the Cameron Theatre for January 26 and 27.

A smashing triumph for both Wallace Beery, who stars as the lovable, alcoholic, Uncle Sid, and Lionel Barrymore, who plays the father role enacted on the stage by George M. Cohan and the late Will Rogers, "Ah Wilderness!" tells the story of an American family in an intensely human manner and with characters every person in the audience can recognize.

There is hilarious comedy in it, charming romance of both youth and middle age, and moments of dynamic drama that holds the audience in its spell. In it O'Neill has brought to the screen a great American drama, and a literal cross-section of American life.

Barrymore rises to dramatic heights in the scene where he tells his son what every father must inevitably tell his boy on the threshold of manhood. Berry's love moments with Aline MacMahon add poignant pathos to a genial comedy characterization.

The youthful romance is charmingly carried out by Eric Linden and Cecilia Parker, and Mickey Rooney, Spring Byington, Charles Grapewin, Frank Albertson, Edward Nugent, Bonita Granville and Helen Flint are others who deserve mention for excellent performances.

The deft direction of Clarence Brown, with his famous human touches, and the splendid photography by Clyde De Vinna add greatly to the human charm and dramatic appeal of the picture.

Its quaint location scenes in the New England town of Grafton, Mass. its Fourth of July celebration, its high school graduation and other slices of typical American life add a striking reality to the production.

EDITORIAL

Coming back to Yoe High after a long holiday, we find it hard to readjust ourselves to useful studying. It almost makes one wish that the vacation had been for only one week, as was originally intended, instead of for two weeks.

The mid-term exams are just over the horizon and those who are not prepared for them had better settle down to some hard studying. As you "cram" you might remember that if you had studied earnestly during the semester this last minute diligence would not be necessary. Let's make the last semester a happy and useful one by applying ourselves to our lessons cheerfully and diligently.

FUTURE FARMERS MIX FEED

Future Farmers, who are members of the second year class in Vocational Agriculture, mixed 1,000 lbs. of growing mash for poultry Friday morning as a part of their training, in feeding of livestock and poultry. The feed will be used for the 600 chicks recently purchased by the FFA chapter members that are to be finished, shown, and sold at public auction at the Houston Livestock Show and Exposition in March.

The death rate on the chicks has been less than 10 per cent in the first four weeks, and few other losses are expected. The entire group of chickens will be sold as broilers and fryers, with the exception of a few that are to be retained as capons. Additional chicks will be purchased soon by other members of the FFA chapter.

FUTURE FARMERS TO ATTEND FORT WORTH FAT STOCK SHOW

Members of the Cameron FFA chapter will attend the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show on March 21, this being the annual FFA Day at the Fort Worth Exposition. Formerly the local chapter members have gone to the Houston rather than the Fort Worth show, but this year the members voted unanimously to make the Fort Worth trip. However, a judging team will go to Houston and a number of capons, fryers and broilers will be shown there. Last year the Cameron livestock judging team of Marcellus Drago, Cecil Bell and Roy Mabry won first in the state-wide contest held at Houston.

WHO'S WHO IN THE SENIOR CLASS

Clinton Breeding
Clinton has attended Yoe High school for the past four years. He also lettered in basketball the same year. All these honors were given him while he was under the training of Coach Wood. He was vice-president of his junior class and president of the senior class this year. He is out for basketball and track this year. Clinton is planning to enter a junior college in Independence, Kansas this fall.

Allen Horstmann
Allen has attended Yoe High school for four years; during all four years he has been a member of the band and is the only four-year letterman of that organization under the direction of Mr. Cox. During his junior year he was a member of Miss Loves' Dramatic Club. He also lettered in track the same year and played basketball for the last three years. He was a member of the H-Y club under the direction of Mr. Guy T. Newton his sophomore year. Allen is hoping to get an appointment to West Point this fall.

H. E. Girls Serve Model Dinners

The question so often asked by mother "What shall we eat?" is being answered by the girls of the second-year home economics classes as they serve real dinners to make believe families.

The girls work in group of five's, with an invited guest, each girl having a definite part to play in preparing and serving the meal. The meal is planned to suit an imaginary family, with emphasis on low cost.

Group 1—was comprised of Josephine Newton, host; Annie Michalka, hostess; E. A. Perrin, guest; Myrtle Stidham, maid; and Mary Ann Green and Virginia, Lindle, children. The menu served by this group was breaded veal chops, stuffed baked potatoes, banana salad, hot buttered rolls, peaches and cream, and milk.

Group 2—entertained Edith McGee as guest, with Marguerite Baylor acting as host; Rosalie Janieck, hostess; Matilda Mikulic, maid; and Bonnelle Pattillo and Mary Francis White, children. Sports

We will begin practice for a baseball team this week and hope to win first prize in the county meet. Last year we were defeated 16 to 0 by Milano and the only way we can erase this defeat is by winning first place this year. The team will probably be made of the same players as last year but we expect to shine a little more this year than last year.

News From Sharp

Civic Class Hears Trial

M. V. Hollman, member of the Sharp High School faculty brought his civic class out to the city to hear a civil suit case.

The case was for dispossession and lawyers were: E. A. Camp of Rockdale, Plaintiff and O. D. Graham, Thorndale, Defendant. Mr. Graham won the suit for his client. The class was very much pleased with the court procedure, especially the charge that Mr. Graham and Mr. Camp gave the jury.

L. N. McDonald, J. P.; presided over the case with a jury, composed of Marvin Petty, Will S. Piegel, Max Rinn, Chas Duncan, F. J. Bolton and R. H. Bolton.

Sick List Practically Gone

We are very much pleased to report that the Sharp sick list seems to be declining fast.

From the Pneumonia list we are nearly able to strike off Jiggs Cummings and Marcus Inge, who have been ill for about two weeks.

The little McDonald girl who suffered a slight paralytic stroke during the holidays is reported doing well and is attending school. J. D. Brown who also is suffering from paralytic ailments is doing nicely.

From the flu list we have Mr. Ed. Fowler who is up and doing nicely. Chas J. Brown is also doing nicely with his broken leg.

No other ailments has been reported lately of which we are proud. Friends and relatives of Louis Abel of Buckholts was proud to hear of his increase in health.

Judge Brown Resigns

J. W. Brown, Justice of the Peace of Precinct, Sharp, recently sent in his resignation to the honorable county commissioners court and L. N. McDonald was appointed to serve his unexpired term.

Mr. Brown was elected his first term in 1922, over two opponents, and took office in January 1923. He served for thirteen consecutive years. Mr. Brown was honored by being re-elected six times with no opponents either times of his re-election.

Mr. Brown has lived in this community for 26 years and has held several private offices. Due to paralytic strokes, which numbered three, and the latter affecting his speech, he was unable to execute the duties intrusted in him, which led to his resignation.

Mr. McDonald has been a resident of this community for many years and has served one term as commissioner for this precinct.

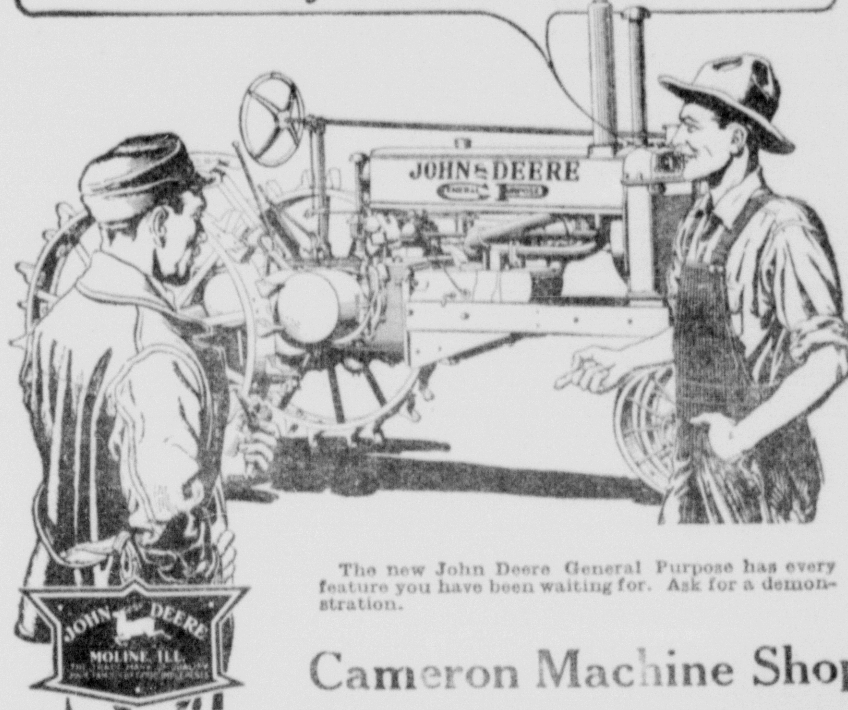

We all wish Mr. McDonald much success in the future as Justice of the Peace.

charged with theft and burglary. Crain, a former convict is charged with burglary, felony theft and two cases of assault with intent to murder.

Crain engaged in a gun fight with officers after he had stolen guns from a Rockdale store. He escaped and was later captured in Galveston by Jim Perkins, dock guard and returned to jail here.

to prove his metal. In later years as a peace officer his courage was to find many occasions to be tested.

For more than 25 years he has been a resident of Cameron. In early days of his youth the family moved to Bell county where Gene, one of a number of sons grew up on a farm. His interest in farming has remained with him and one of his happy reflections of service as city marshal is that he has always been courteous to farmers and country people who do their trading in Cameron, at all times seeking to make traffic regulations easy for them and to give them welcome to the city.

Mr. Smith appreciates the co-operation of these people and of the people of the city. He has been able to accomplish much in his office by reason of this co-operation.

Smith believes that one of the first ranking qualifications an officer must have is the ability and courage to enlist respect. No officer, he believes, can succeed when discipline must be enforced, unless his authority is respected. Because he possesses to a marked degree the characteristics necessary to enlist co-operation he has been able to serve with the minimum of difficulty with law breakers. He has not been lax with violators and an order from him is often worth twice an arrest by the average officer. A friend recently said that his reputation had done more to keep the rough element out of Cameron than any law ever enacted.

Mr. Smith pledges the people that he will be on the job every day and always available for duty. "I have done my best," said he "and I feel that I could not promise the people more because after all I have made them the best marshal I knew how to make."

Mr. Smith hopes to see the voters personally but if there be any he does not see this announcement is intended for a special appeal for their vote and support.

office demands any special pledge beyond his duty to enforce the laws faithfully and impartially. This he promises to do. His reputation as an officer insures all in advance that if elected, the office of marshal will have both efficiency and ability. His record proves his merit of the esteem of his fellow citizens and is a guarantee of honorable service.

Mr. Blaylock as a citizen has found a large place in the esteem of the people. He has been identified with every worthy effort for community betterment and his many friends commend him for his good example.

Born in North Carolina he came to Texas when a small boy with his parents who were early settlers in Bell county. For many years he has been a resident of Milam county, formerly living at Branchville. He first became a peace officer as a deputy and when the late Allan Hooks retired from the office of sheriff, Mr. Blaylock was appointed and then elected and for a long period of time enjoyed the repeated confidence of the voters of the county in that office.

Mr. Blaylock believes he can serve the people of Cameron as city marshal in a way they will appreciate and offers as candidate with both experience and a desire to serve the people.

He plans to make an active campaign and if he should fail to see any voter he asks that this announcement be taken as a special appeal for their vote and support.

commissioner he devoted his time and energy to the work and if elected this year pledges the people that he will again give them service every day in the year and not only will he keep the roads in good condition, he will seek to effect every economy and give the tax payers one hundred cents value for every dollar spent.

Many voters in the precinct live within the circulating territory of the Herald. Mr. Hairston plans to see each voter during the coming campaign. To all his friends in the territory served by this newspaper he makes this special appeal for their vote and support and will greatly appreciate his friends taking an active part in his behalf.

BROWN

For a number of years, Mr. Brown has been with the Acme Steam Laundry in Cameron and is well known to the business men of the city. In asking for the support of the people Mr. Brown pledges that he will enforce the laws. In making this promise he was careful to say that many promise but few fulfill. In this instance he asks an opportunity to show whether he will keep his word.

Mr. Brown has begun his canvas for this office and will try to see each voter. If there be any with whom he does not consult about his race he wants this announcement to serve as a special request for their vote and support.

As a native citizen of the city and well known to all the people and without a political record he comes fresh from the hearts of the people seeking to serve in an honorable and fair way in this important office believing that he can make a record that will justify the confidence expressed.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." ... If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

County for felony theft with a long prison record behind him in California and Houston.

Occurrences of this nature look bad for Milam county, especially when there are three in one year. If this county needs a new jail, somebody ought to go to work and see that we get one or find out the reason for these continual jail breaks.

It has been predicted that putting the county officials on a salary basis is going to prove detrimental to this county. Time will tell.

It has been asked why the Justices of Peace and Constables were kept on a fee basis, and to this the reply was "if you did that you would fix a salary that no one would care to accept", and this was shown by figures. 1935 figures for the amounts paid county officials were not available, but the 1934 records were checked and it was found that one Justice of Peace made only $96.80 for his year's work and one constable only $32.50. Four hundred and eighty two dollars was the highest amount made by one of the constables and $489.35 was the highest amount made by one of the Justices of Peace, for 1934.

Under the new salary basis, the county is to assume the responsibility of paying assistants of the county office holders. Heretofore, the county officers paid their help out of their salary.

This will obligate the county for another $1,000 or close to it.

No one should miss the opportunity of visiting the basement of the court house since it has been made into office space and rest rooms. This improvement is one that Cameron and Milam County can be proud of. A number of local men were given employment.

Thirteen new feather pillow have been added to the sleeping quarters of the jury. Of course, the 13th pillow is for the deputy sheriff. These pillows have been needed for a long time, it was stated.
